

Fairy tales from Norway

The nun and the handsome Prince

One fine day a nun was walking in the forest and met a handsome Prince.

“Hello,” he said, happily.

“Goodbye,” said the nun.

“Don't go,” he said.

“I am not going, I have gone already,” she said.

Such was the shortest fairy tale ever.

The monk and the beautiful Princess

One fine day a monk was walking in the forest and met a beautiful Princess.

“Hello,” she said, happily.

The sun shone brightly through her golden hair.

“I must just say goodbye,” said the monk.

“Please don't go just yet,” she said.

“I am sorry but I have to go, I haven't gone already,” he said.

Such was the second shortest fairy tale ever.

I offer this for your reflection.
